

Porcelain Dentistry

The Interesting Advances Shown by Modern Dentistry Over the More Cumbrous Methods of the Past.

The Introduction of Porcelain Dentistry Does Away with Pain—Wonderfully Natural Effects Possible.

Prominent dentists all over the country, dentists who serve the very best class of patients, are fast coming to a realization of the fact that as gold at one time superseded the methods of filling the teeth, so porcelain is now, in many cases, superseding gold. However, the dentist who has been using gold for many years finds it difficult to change to porcelain because of the fact that it takes time and study to learn to properly manipulate porcelain.

Gold in the teeth is really unsightly. There is a contrast between the gold, which often becomes black, and the nearby white of the teeth, which is annoying indeed to particular people, and especially to those where a great deal of gold is used. The people who are in the dental line and hammering consequent upon gold filling painful and nerve racking.

In order to give the people of Norwich the benefit of the Porcelain Method, which represents all that is modern in dentistry, Dr. Jackson, of the King Dental Parlor, with offices on Franklin Square, has equipped a department with a complete outfit for doing this class of work. This department is in charge of an expert dentist from New York city, who has for several years made a specialty of Porcelain Dentistry and the Alveolar method of restoring lost teeth.

With porcelain, a tooth can be filled so deftly and so quickly, because of the fact that the porcelain will perfectly harmonize with the color of the structure of the teeth. There can be no injury to the nerves, and for this reason, and because of the lack of unpleasant features attending the use of porcelain dentistry, it is particularly adapted to children. Metals in teeth often generate an electric current and their proximity to the nerves in juvenile teeth often causes unfortunate results. This is not so in the case of porcelain. Any intelligent person who gives this matter any thought will at once appreciate the advantages of the new dentistry, and the number of people who stay away from the dentist because of unpleasant experiences or because they prefer imperfect teeth to a mouth full of unsightly metal, realize the fact that here is a method which they can take advantage of without hesitation. Dr. Jackson is well known in the city, and for this reason, he is now introducing modern porcelain dentistry will undoubtedly bring to his office many people who have long appreciated the unsatisfactory results of the older methods. (Anyone who has remained in a dentist's chair for years during the use of the old method of filling, or continuous use of the metal knows what such experiences mean and will be quick to appreciate the difference in methods, and it is because of the fact that the best patients are demanding porcelain work that dentists are beginning to awaken to the advantages, both to their patients and to themselves. Dr. Jackson will welcome a visit to his office and will be glad to explain personally the many points of advantage in porcelain dentistry that have only been hinted at in this article. It may be well to state here that for bridge work porcelain fills a want that has been long felt, for re-enslaving it has added a state of artistic perfection, and porcelain plates have been used extensively in the highest class work for many years.

Dr. Jackson assures you of the highest amount of satisfaction in dental work. It would be well also to take your children to him as you will find porcelain dentistry unusually desirable for their needs—it is going to the dentist of all its terrors for the little folks.

The King Dental Parlor are located on Franklin Square, over Sonner Bros, the most convenient location in the city. The offices are clean and pleasant. Special attention is given to the sterilization of instruments and the effort is made to give comfort to their patients. Hours from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sundays from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Gavitt Liquor Case Continued—Sale of Hislop's Store to Newburyport Purchasers—Block Island Boy Rescued from Surf Off Quoncontaug—Rapid Fire Drill at High School.

John H. Shipple, who was sent from the children's home in Providence three years ago to live with a family on Block Island, had a narrow escape from drowning Friday afternoon during a perilous trip from the island to the mainland. Shipple is 17 years of age and claims he has been abused by his stepfather, who has been given no opportunity to attend school. He resolved to make his escape and started from the island in a flat-bottomed skiff to row to the mainland.

Shortly after noon the boy in the boat was sighted about a mile off shore by Charles F. Ecosystem and two carpenters who were working for him at Quoncontaug beach. The surf was running high and the boy nearest the shore the skiff was capsized, but the boy managed to cling to the overturned boat.

As there was no boat at hand to go to the rescue of the boy, necessity became the mother of invention and without delay Mr. Ecosystem and his men utilized the halyards of the flagpole in front of the cottage upon which they were working, tied blocks of wood at intervals and used it as a lifeline, with Harris Taylor in the lead. He managed to get Shipple just before the boat was hoisted on the beach and the rescued and rescuer were then hauled ashore.

When the boy reached shore he was unconscious. He was taken to the home of Henry Mitchell, where he slowly regained consciousness and told his story to his dearest rescuers. Mr. Ecosystem took the boy with him to his home in Ashaway and will give the matter investigation.

Joseph T. Murphy, who recovered his horse and carriage at Stamford, drove the animal from that city to Bridgeport Thursday and to New Haven Friday. He left the outfit in the latter city and returned to Westerly Friday night. He will give the horse a couple of days' rest in New Haven before the horse will be resumed.

Considering the long and rapid drive given by Puller, the horse is in good condition. The stolen horse was the best in Mr. Murphy's stable.

This would make the salary of Judge Oliver H. Williams $3,300 and those of the other courts named $1,200.

Grand Army of Rhode Island at the end of the year 1908 was 1,263. There were 50 deaths during the year and six were removed from the roll by honorable discharge. The grand army of Rhode Island, a total of 66. Thirty-eight new members were mustered in, two received by transfer, and 26 by reinstatement. A total of 66. The receipts for the year were $770.90 and expenditures $733.04. Five posts had made no gains in membership during the year. In 1890 the membership was 2,944, but since then the gradual dwindling of the veteran ranks has continued until now the membership is less than half of the 1890 total.

In the election of officers Westerly's war veterans were not given consideration. At the convention of the Women's Relief Corps, however, Mrs. Myra Barlow of Westerly, was elected delegate at large to the national convention to be held in Salt Lake City.

Judge Oliver H. Williams held regular sessions of the Third District court in Westerly Friday. The liquor case against Oliver R. Gavitt was at the request of his counsel and by agreement with counsel for the state, continued for one week.

Then came the case of John Corono against John Corono, charged with assault. At the last session of the court it was announced that this case had been settled to the satisfaction of the parties in the court, but the court refused to dismiss the case and it was continued to the present session. The plaintiff asked that the case be dismissed and the counsel for the state acquiesced.

Judge Williams criticized the action of the state's counsel in agreeing to settle this case, in which the defendant gave up money in settlement that he had not earned. He said that to do was the case tried. The judge disapproved of such methods, declaring that the state should not be allowed to continue to the court when he expected that the case would be ready for trial.

Allen, charged with sales, reputation and keeping with intent to sell. He pleaded not guilty and was allowed to go under $200 bonds until next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, when his case will go to trial.
